

Wise Investing

The American Jewish World will publish a special section in the Jan. 3, 2014 edition, featuring articles from professionals and advertising related to personal finance.

AJW readers are seeking sound investment advice, as they plan for retirement and fine-tune their portfolios.

The Wise Investing special section reaches a unique demographic in the community, families and individuals who are in the market for stocks and bonds, mutual funds, real estate, IRAs and life insurance. AJW readers are looking for professional help with tax preparation and planning, estate planning and inheritance, saving for college and charitable giving.

Deadline for ad space reservations in the Jan. 3 Wise Investing special section is 12 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 24.
