

SUMMER INTERNSHIPS

NOW AVAILABLE AT

The American

Jewish World

The American Jewish World is accepting applications for two summer internship positions.

Editorial Internship

The AJW editorial intern will assist with editing and proofreading copy, conducting phone and in-person interviews, and proposing and writing feature stories. Additional duties will include helping out with all aspects of the annual Community Guide and with general office tasks as assigned.

The editorial intern must have general knowledge of writing in a journalistic style. He or she must also be a self-starter and be able to complete tasks on deadline. Schedules can be flexible, but general availability (Monday through Friday) is preferred.

Current college students, as well as 2015 high school graduates, are encouraged to apply.

To apply, e-mail a cover letter, résumé and two to three writing samples to: community@ajwnews.com.

New Media Internship

The AJW new media intern will be responsible for updating and maintaining the Web site (www.ajwnews.com) as well as AJW's Facebook and Twitter accounts. The intern must also work with staff on creating new avenues of outreach. Schedules can be flexible.

High school and college students are encouraged to apply.

To apply, e-mail a cover letter and résumé to: community@ajwnews.com.

The application deadline is 5 p.m.
Wednesday, May 27th. For more information, contact Community News Editor Erin Elliott Bryan at 952-259-5239, or community@ajwnews.com.